

OLEOMARGARINE BILL PASSED THE HOUSE.

Went Through by a Vote of 196 to 92--All Articles Known as the Substitute

SUBJECT TO POLICE POWER

Of the States in Which it is Sold. Long and Interesting Debate--Some State News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.--The house today passed the Groat oleomargarine bill by a vote of 196 to 92. The substitute offered by the minority of the committee on agriculture which imposed additional restrictions on the sale of oleomargarine to prevent its fraudulent sale as butter and increased the penalties for violators was defeated by a vote of 113 to 178. The bill as passed makes all articles known as oleomargarine, butterine, imitation butter or imitation cheese transported into any state or territory for consumption or sale subject to the police power of such state or territory, but prevents any state or territory from forbidding the transportation or sale of such product when produced and sold free from coloration in imitation of butter. The bill increases the tax on oleomargarine colored in imitation of butter from 2 to 10 cents per pound and decreases the tax on oleomargarine uncolored from two cents to one-fourth of a cent per pound.

Long and Interesting Debate.

A long and interesting debate preceded the vote, in the course of which those who favored the Groat bill claimed the additional tax on colored oleomargarine was the only effective remedy for preventing fraud upon the public, while those who opposed it contended that fraud would be prevented by the substitute and that the real purpose of the Groat bill was to destroy the oleomargarine industry. Those who participated in the debate were Messrs. Henry, (Rep.), Conn.; Groat, (Rep.), Vermont; Lamb, (Dem.), Virginia; Davidson, (Rep.), Wisconsin; and Tawney, (Rep.), Minn., in favor of the bill, and Messrs. Wadsworth, (Rep.), New York; Lorimer, (Rep.), Illinois; Bailey, (Rep.), Kansas; Grosvenor, (Rep.), Ohio; Williams, (Dem.), Miss.; Foster, (Dem.), Illinois; and Bailey, (Dem.), Texas, against it.

The naval committee today agreed to recommend favorably the bill to place Mr. Boutelle, late chairman, on the retired list of the navy. GREATEST EVENT

In the Industrial History of the World--Contracts Let for Construction of Five New Battleships.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.--Never since the birth of the new navy has there been such a gathering of ship builders and metal kings as were assembled in the office of the secretary of the navy at noon today, to witness the opening of bids for an amount of naval construction which Secretary Long denominated as the greatest industrial event this or any other country had ever seen, involving the placing of contracts for about $29,000,000.

Bids were opened at the navy department for the construction of five new battleships and six armored cruisers, aggregating a total displacement of 14,000 tons and comprising the largest consignment of material for the navy ever contracted for at a single bidding.

Never Contracted For.

The three battleships authorized by the act of March, 1899, were never contracted for, owing to delays in the procurement of armor plate; in the completion of designs, and controversy as to whether the new superposed turret should be used in their construction. Inability to reach a satisfactory conclusion in regard to sheathing delayed construction of the three armored cruisers authorized by the same act. These points have been adjusted.

The five battleships, namely the Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia, Virginia and Rhode Island, are divided into two classes, to compromise upon the controversy as to their turret systems. Three are to be sheathed and coppered, and will carry superimposed turrets; other two are to be unsheathed vessels, having the "quadrilateral arrangement" of 8-inch turrets. To meet the contingency that the bids may be in excess of the authorized cost, the bidders were, however, invited to submit plans in each case for both sheathed and unsheathed ships.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.--The West Virginia contingent which gathered at the capital in large numbers the first part of this week, have nearly all gone back to their homes. Some have been given assurances that have made them feel happy, while others carry with them sad hearts and have left the city swearing vengeance against the bosses and are making all kinds of threats.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.--The population of the twenty incorporated towns in West Virginia, having between 25,000 and 2,000, was made public today by the census bureau. The population for 1900 and 1890, with the increase and rank, is given below. Doubtless Parkersburg, who have been applying the term "Second City" to their burg for the last year, in anticipation of the 1900 census, will be dismayed to learn that their town occupies the same rank as in 1890, third, while Huntington remains second to Wheeling, with Charleston fourth. The most remarkable growth shown is that of Fairmont, which increased from 1,973 to 5,655 and is now seventh, with Grafton sixth, only five "heads" ahead.

AGREEMENT REACHED

By Envoys at Pekin--Germans Ask Consideration From America or Concessions.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.--With reference to the news communicated from London that an agreement has been reached at Pekin, a high official of the German foreign office, who is empowered to speak in the name of Count von Buelow, imperial chancellor, said this evening:

"The report is correct, but there are still some minor points unsettled. It was clear from the first that the note formulated by the foreign envoys in Pekin would not be accepted, inasmuch as the United States disavowed Mr. Conger instantly and Russia raised some formal objections. Now that the envoys are agreed, and the note is acceptable to the United States there should be no exultation as if the other powers had bowed to the will of one nation. All were free to take whatever course they chose and they chose in the interest of peace and harmony."

"They altered the time to meet the views of the United States. It is to be hoped that the fact that Germany has gone so far in complying with the wishes of the United States will meet with recognition in America."

Negro Lynched for Assault.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 7.--In the lower part of Wythe county, yesterday, a young white woman, Mrs. Robert Fisher, was criminally assaulted by a negro, named Daniel Long, aged twenty-three years, after she had been choked into insensibility. The woman was soon aroused, and last night Long was arrested by officers at his home in Ivanhoe, a mining town three miles from the scene of the crime. Officers started with him for the jail, but a crowd of about a hundred men took Long, and tying him to a tree shot him to death.

Attack of the "Cads."

LONDON, Dec. 7.--The Saturday Review, which devoted a page to a savage criticism of President McKinley's hopeful view of the future of the Philippines, as expressed in his message to Congress, dismisses the President's statement of the assertion that "it does not contain a shred" or "title of truth." The writer quotes from Frederick H. R. Sawyer, author of several works on the Philippines, and cites particularly his reference to the "chicory ore of murder, plunder and slave trading in Mindanao."

FARMER KILLED BY HIS RENTER.

KENOVA, W. Va., Dec. 7.--Robert Bailey, a wealthy farmer, and who is also an extensive timber merchant along the Twelve Pole river, was shot and instantly killed by Charles Smith. The murder occurred on Garrett's creek, twenty miles south, at the home of Smith. Mr. Smith was a renter of Bailey, and no one was present at the trouble, except his immediate family. The supposition is that they quarreled over a debt which Smith owed Bailey. Smith alleges that Bailey was attempting to strike him with a club, when he ran into the house, and seized his rifle and fired a bullet through Bailey's heart. Smith is in jail. Bailey was forty years old, and was prominent in county politics, having been a life-long Democrat.

THE SLAYER OF MRS. CASTLE ON WITNESS STAND.

Jessie Morrison Tells the Story of Her Encounter and Quarrel With the Dead Woman.

CUT ACROSS THE THROAT

With a Razor--Both Rolled on the Floor, Where the Fatal Strokes Were Given by Witness.

ELDORADO, Kas., Dec. 7.--Jessie Morrison testified in her own defense today in her trial on the charge of killing Mrs. Olin Castle last June. The court room was jammed with spectators, two-thirds of whom were women. Miss Morrison's testimony was designed by the defense to offset that of Olin Castle, whom the witness faced as she gave her evidence. Members of the families of all concerned in the case occupied front seats. Miss Morrison frequently broke down and cried during the recital. The first portion of her evidence disclosed nothing sensational, consisting, as it did, of a contradiction of Castle's testimony.

Miss Morrison related all the occurrences of the day of the fatal quarrel with Mrs. Castle. She had visited Mrs. Davis and on her way home passed the Castle house. She carried a letter in her hand, but had no knife or razor. Mrs. Castle opened her door and called her to come in. Witness said she turned and entered the house.

Fastened the Screen Door.

Mrs. Castle fastened the screen door behind her. "Clara sat down in front of me," she continued, "and asked: 'What do you mean by following Olin around?' I said I was not. Then she said you know you hate me and I hate you, and I'm no friend of yours. You know you wrote Olin from Excelsior Springs about a loan scheme. Don't deny it. I saw the letters." I rose to go. She said: 'Don't go yet, Olin is coming in a minute.' I said: 'Isn't he here now?' and she said: 'It's too bad for you to run after that poor boy.' I told her that he was the one who had caused her to be bitter to me. She said: 'I know better. You tried to separate us.' I said I did not, and she said: 'You are a liar.' I said: 'Don't call me a liar.' Then we both raised up together." Jessie Morrison paused.

The Fight Begun.

"What was done?" asked Attorney Redden.

"My handkerchief dropped and I stooped to pick it up. Then she jumped up, moved quickly in the same direction, and then she cut me with the razor. She cut me twice with the razor across my throat. I grabbed at her and screamed. Then Clara and I rushed together and she threw me and I raised my knees to protect myself and she kept striking at me all the time. She fell over on me and then we both rolled off the lounge. We both struggled and I got the razor away from her. After that we rolled over on the floor."

Miss Morrison hesitated a moment and the words which the spectators knew were about to come caused surprised excitement in the court. Not a sound was heard, however, as Attorney Redden asked:

Cut Her Throat.

"Then what did you do?" "Cut her," answered the witness, in a conversational tone.

"Do you know how many times?" "No, sir."

"Do you know what became of the razor?" "She may have knocked it from my hand or I may have dropped it."

Then Miss Morrison told of Mrs. Morberly and Mrs. Spangler entering the house. She denied much of the evidence given by these two women.

Evangelist Prayed With Her.

During the noon hour, Rev. Mr. Meyers, an evangelist, entered the prisoner's cell and prayed with her.

At the afternoon session Captain Waters continued the cross examination.

"What prevented you after you got the razor, from going to the door and screaming for help?" was asked of Miss Morrison.

"She held my hair and arm."

On re-direct examination, Judge Redden asked Miss Morrison whether she had cut Mrs. Castle after she felt that danger to herself was past.

She replied that she had not.

The witness was then dismissed, Judge Redden helping her from the chair to a place near the members of her family.

Late Director of Posts for Cuba Shown up to the World as a Scoundrel by Sen. Platt.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.--Senator Platt, of Connecticut, chairman of the senate committee on relations with Cuba, to-day made public the statement prepared by the auditing division of the war department, showing the expenditures made by E. C. Rathbone, late director of the department of posts for Cuba. The statement is included in a volume of 201 pages, and covers the period from January 1, 1899, to April 30, 1900. There are no remarks, and the book is a solid mass of figures, showing not only the disbursements made by Rathbone, but giving the items disallowed upon re-examination, as well as those allowed. The total disallowances for the sixteen months were $72,631.

CONFIDENT UNDERTONE

To Business in All Lines--Numerous Idle Mills Have Again Started. Hides Easter--Cereals Looking Up. NEW YORK, Dec. 7.--R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade to-morrow will say:

Business is progressing along conservative lines. It is without excitement, but with a confident undertone, which is to be explained largely by the fact that leading concerns in most of the great industries have orders booked to employ their machinery at nearly full capacity during months when current business is usual. No net reduction in working force has appeared in the last fortnight, and a readjustment of wage schedules in some branches of the steel trade is effected without trouble. Prices of commodities are generally steady, and holiday trade is brisk at all points.

The south is particularly cheerful, with cotton firm and the rice crop coming in at very full prices.

There is no cause for alarm in the small volume of new business at iron and steel centers. With the first sign of higher prices there came forward such a flood of contracts that mills and furnaces booked orders sufficient to keep their full force employed for months.

Many Idle Mills Resumed.

Hence, there has come a more quiet condition, with less bidding for products. Particularly noticeable were not forced up unreasonably during the weeks of greatest activity, and now there is no sign of depression. On the other hand, bars are more firmly held, while many idle mills have resumed in this department, and sheet makers also insist on better terms. Other forms of finished material are steady and at most points are unchanged, although concessions are made for Bessemer at Pittsburgh. Numerous bridges are erected by the railroads, and a heavy tonnage of structural steel is taken. Other railway supplies are in active demand, with rolling stock urgently sought. Business in iron is particularly brisk at Chicago, with slight moderation in domestic buying more attention is given to exports.

Shoe Market Quiet.

Aside from a further advance of 2 1/2 cents in the kip boots, and firmness in grain shoes, the market for footwear has quieted down, but with no disposition to recede from the generally higher range established last week. Makers have fewer new orders, however, and heavy footwear has been purchased from the season's requirements. The customary holiday demand has not appeared, though retailers have still lines of fancy shoes and slippers. There is a shortage in foreign grades of hemlock sole, but it has ceased to advance. Hides are easier, especially for country lines at Chicago. Even after the decline of the past two weeks the average is above the closing prices of October. Wool remains steady, and sales are less than half last year's. Manufacturers purchase carefully, and the goods market is unusually dull for the season.

Wheat Started Up.

Wheat was started upward by foreign markets and prompt response here compelled covering of contracts. Nothing of importance was learned regarding domestic conditions, aside from heavy marketing at interior cities, as indicated by western receipts of 5,557,402 bushels, against 5,300,000 bushels in the previous week, and 5,237,000 bushels a year ago. On the other hand, exports at the Atlantic coast cities were only 2,214,469 bushels, against 3,559,677 bushels in 1899. More strength was shown by corn, which brought out receipts of 4,609,166 bushels, against 3,450,772 bushels last year, but foreign buying was brisk, even at quotations seven cents higher than last year. Atlantic flour for the week averaged 105.55¢, 715 bushels, against 3,701,273 bushels in 1899. Cotton was stubbornly held above ten points. Many reports from plantations suggested a crop larger than prevailing estimates, and heavy port receipts, also discourage hopes of higher prices. Traders impatiently await the government report.

High-Toned Thieves.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.--The Pekin correspondent of the Deutsche Zeitung writes that several German marine officers discovered Sir Claude MacDonald, former British minister at Pekin, and Lady MacDonald, personally superintending coals which were carrying off treasures from the Chinese imperial palace to the British legation buildings.
